Homework

The board of school directors recognizes the value of appropriate homework assignments for students of all ages. Homework should provide for enrichment, practice with skills, or the creation of projects and/or special reports. Homework should not be punitive.

Teachers and appropriate administrators are expected to be aware of dates when students may be unable to complete homework assignments. Religious holidays and times of family crisis require sensitivity, understanding, and flexible dates for completion of homework assignments.

The superintendent is responsible for the establishment of guidelines relative to homework requirements.
